Summary

In this progress report the stages of the project's development are outlined, as well as the scientific and pragmatic keypoints of the project. The effect of the project is registered through the assessment of the travelling exhibition from June 2001 to the end of 2002. The aim of this report is to enable financing bodies, the patronage committee, all participating exhibition coordinators and others interested in intercultural projects to have an insight into the functioning of "Here and Away. Living in Two Worlds".

The success of the project thus far has convinced the Eidgenössische Ausländerkommission (EKA) vom Bundesamt für Ausländerfragen to extend the travelling exhibition for another year. "Here and Away. Living in Two Worlds" can therefore be shown at ten further locations until the end of 2003. As project leader I would like to thank the EKA and all other offices, foundations and institutions who have supported "Here and Away. Living in Two Worlds" ideally and financially at this point. A particular thank you goes to the exhibition coordinators in the various locations for their great commitment!
